mistaken in both cases.

News, Mr. ROYALL, in his usual candor, tells what he expects would result if the people of Virginia should consent to use coupons. He says : "If, then, the people of the State will use coupons in payment of their taxes, it is a mere question of time when the bondholders will compel the State to make terms with them."

of coupons in the next ten years and you will be compelled to pay, not the twenty millions provided for by the RIDDLEBERGER bill, but the thirty-1879. You offer to pay your creditors twenty millions. Don't you know ment, it is because they desire to get thirty-odd millions? And if you pay coupons into the Treasury to the extent of even ten millions, you will save nothing. On the contrary you will have to pay in addition and in consequence of your use of coupons, more than ten millions of dollars which you could save if all of you would refuse to buy a coupon.

Northern Capital in the South. server, in noticing the attention being paid by northern papers to the inducements the South offers as a field for the investment of capital, says :

"The North is evidently realizing that the South is in a state of development needing money, and it proposes to furnish the money, the expectations of bandsome returns being almost certain. To Be Disappointed. Mr. COOPER, of England, seems to have had in Virginia an experience somewhat like that of CHARLES II., of his own country, who on his triumphal annum, or 75c. for six months.

HAM-ELETON & Co. quote Mr. Cooper as follows:

"Mr. Cooper, the English Virginia bondholder who has been visiting Virginia, returned this week and expresses himself as well pleased with the prospects of the bondholders. Mr. Cooper has spent a month in Virginia, has travelled over every section of the State, and is most enthusiastic in his belief that the people of Virginia are anxious and willing to make a just and equita-ble settlement with the creditors of the State, and that a movement will soon be inaugurated to abandon the Riddleberger settlement and make a more just compromise of the debt based upon the ability of the State to pay. This coincides with our own information and with the rentiment expressed by the leading newspapers of the State outside of the city of Richmond. We hear a great deal about the determination of the people of Virginia to insist upon the Riddleberger coercion and to compel the bondholders to accept these terms or nothing; but when we meet gentle-London, Mr. ROYALL recently wrote men from Virginia we find that the people of the State are misrepresented, for one of these levies early in July, and I predict that the plaintiff will re-cover heavy damages." and that there is a strong desire and determination to put a stop to the policy of illegal resistance to the rights of the creditors of the State and to demand that the State authorities take steps to denced by the following extract from bring about an honorable and just settlement of the State debt."

Mr. Coopen makes no allowance for the proverbial politeness of the people of Virginia. They do not tell him to his face that he is on a wild-goose chase. That's all. In Virginia there will soon be in the field from twelve to twenty candidates for Congress, Republican and Democratic. Of these candidates not one, we take it, will say on the stump that he is in favor of paying one dollar more of the State debt than is provided for by the RIDDLEBERGER bill. Such candidates keep their hands on the public pulse. Let Mr. Cooper consult them.

MR. TUCKER AND MR. GOODE .-It seems to be the unanimous opinion of congressmen that Representative J. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, is the best man that can be found for the office of Solicitor-General. The Virginians, and Tucker among them, are leaving nothing undone to bave Mr. Goode renominated; but if that should turn out to be impossible, then Mr. Tucker would undoubtedly be the first choice of his colleagues, people of Virginia, considering that and would receive the cordial support more than twenty years ago they passed of the whole party as represented in proved. the House. GALLANT RESCUE. HOWITZER SAVES THE LIVES OF

A Negro Drowned-Kerosene Accident Accident to Ex-Governor Smith-Personals and Briefs.

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.

NORFOLK, July 19, 1886. A sad accident was prevented at Occan View on Saturday evening by the gallantry of Private Charles Dick-son, of the Richmond Howitzers. Two young ladies of Washington were bathing, and got beyond their depth. Their frentic shrieks attracted the attention of the gentlemen on the nearest pavil-ien, and Mr. Dickson, throwing off his coat, premptly plunged into the surf, and, reaching the drowning ladies, seized them one at a time and passed them to the gentlemen who followed him. The ladies were taken ashore in a half-conscious condition and so exhausted that they could not walk, and had to be carried by their friends to the Private Dickson was the hero of the hour; and on the recovery of the young ladies they sought him out and personally thanked him, and, tendering him their addresses, begged him to visit them at their homes in Wash-to-night to their lady friends at the hotel, led by Corporal Starke and Miss Poindexter. The programme of the week embraces a visit to Virginia Beach to-morrow all day as the guests of the Norfolk Blues and a ball there at night in their honor; a target contest on Wednesday with the Blues, and accompanying festivities, to conclude at night with a farewell ball given in their honor by the guests of the hotel, with whom the visitors have been very popular ever since their arrival. The Howitzers break camp on Thursday morning, and return to Richmond on Thursday night. There are only twenty-nine men on roll tonight, the rest having returned home, eing unable to remain longer. Over forty have been in camp, and all, in spite of much rain and daily cares, have enjoyed the fishing, bathing, dancing, drilling, and practice daily with their three-inch regulation rifles at a target made of barrels and boards and moored 800 yards from shore immediately in front of the hotel. A negro named Robert Scott, of this city, working along the wharves, fell overboard at the New York, Philadelhis and Norfolk railroad depot yesterday afternoon, and was drowned before any effort could be made to save him. He disappeared as soon as he struck the water, and was not seen afterwards until the lifeless body was recovered during the night. An inquest was held by Dr. Newton, the coroner, this morn-

Ex-Governor Billy Smith fell down a stairway at Virginia Beach last evening, and was rendered unconscious and considerably shocked and hurt, but no bones were broken. (Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

JULY 19, 1886.

A meeting of farmers, manufacturers, merchants, and other influential citizens was held in this city at the court-house on Saturday for the purpose of organizing an agricultural and echanical association with a view to holding annual exhibitions at this place. The meeting was well attended, and great interest was manifested. Mr. Charles Wallace, chairman of the local committee, called the meeting to order, and Captain M. B. Rowe made temporary chairman. After discussions on various questions bearing on the main subject a committee named by the Chair retired for the purpose of naming suitable officers for the permanent organization, and upon their re-turn they recommended the following officers to fill the various positions ricksburg ; Vice-Presidents-Robert R. has sent me a copy of your paper containing his " tilt with my other good friend " A Member" on the subject of the wisdom of investing our "surplus" in "Riddles."

Although I do not set myself up as an expounder of riddles, and know that I run great risk of being pierced through by the lances of these quondam redoubt-able champions of readjustment who now call themselves "Democrats," aland while there a storm arose. They though (sotto roce) one of them "did attempted to return to the ship in the vote for Keifer," and the other was a famous champion for J. E. M. for United States Senator when he was trystorm, and on nearing the vessel their ing to prove that he was a better Reablican than Mahone, I cannot agree with the Second Auditor or with the majority in the Legislature that it is a which they had swam, good financial scheme to buy up our teen were drowned.

dle" due forty-six years hence. Now, this $700 could have been lent at 6 per cent. to a farmer of the State on the very best security for the State-i. e., a first mortgage on her own soil, out of which the greater portion of this very money has been raised. The yearly interest on the $700 thus invested would pay the $30 interest on the $1,000 " Riddle," and at the end of the forty-six years (by investing the surplus interest) the $700 will have grown

$1,000 and leave a "surplus" of 83,449 for the extinguishment of other Riddles." What we farmers of Virginia need more than anything else and what we want for the improvement of the coun-We cannot work our try is money. lands without it, and both labor and fertilizers could be obtained at 20 per cent, less than we now have to pay if we only had the cash. The money which goes to buy the "Riddle" is sent out of the State, whereas, if lent to the farmers it would be used to improve the very capital out of which our children forty-six years hence will have to pay this debt.

In the Legislature I tried to have this "surplus" applied to educating our children, so that they would be placed in a better condition to meet this debt as it falls due; and as not than a first-class free-school system of education I was satisfied that this was the best investment that could be made of this "surplus." But as the great financiers of the Commonwealth would not do this I think the next best disposition that can be made of this "surplus" is to lend it to the farmers.

Is it a matter of wonder that the bondholders should refuse to fund when they hear of our having a "surplus" to invest in our own paper that has nearly fifty years to run and is only bearing 3 per cent, and that they should continue to believe that the reason why we don't pay their bonds is more bacause we won't than because we "can't"? another Fruit-Grovers' Association. [For the Dispatch.]

Pursuant to a call of R. H. Stratton, Esq., about thirty of the most prominent fruit-growers in the vicinity of Gordonsville met in Linden Hall on the 2d of July for the purpose of organizing a fruit-growers' association. After an enthusiastic speech by Mr. Stratton in the interest of fruit-growing, and upon his stating the object of the meeting, an organization of the "Piedmont Fruit-Stowers' Association " was effected by electing the following officers: R. H. Stratton, president; R. M. Newman, vice-president; Frank Lovelock, socretary, and T. B. McCleod, treasurerwith the following Board of Directors: C. V. Cadmus, F. B. Davis, Thomas S. Jones, and W. Whose Child Was It? JULY 19, 1886.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:
Last Wednesday, during the heavy freshet on the North Anna viver, at the "Falls mills," opposite Verdon, on the Chesapenke and Ohio railway, Mr. H. Gates Mallory saw the body of a small white boy, seven or eight years old, floating down the river. He followed it some 200 or 300 yards until i reached the falls, where it went down under the water in the "falls hole and he saw it no more, as he could not get around the "hole" on account of the high water. The body was seen, I understand, at or near Anderson's mill the day before. It must have come from some point high up on the North Appa or some of its tributaries. I have heard nothing of any one losing a child along the road above. Whose child was it? Whose child is missing? Possibly we may hear. The body has not been recovered so far as heard.

Victory and Befeat.

Mr. Goode's rejection is now consid ered final, and the Dispatch calls upon the voters of the Second district to vindicate his record by electing him to Congress.

Whether an election to Congress would vindicate Mr. Goode, who is considered by his friends everywhere as simply a victim of Mahone's hatred, backed by Republican senators, is a question that need not be discussed. It is a self-evident proposition.

That the people of the Second dis-trict should do all things in their power to repay Mr. Goode for the sacrifice of his law business, his bold and fearless defence of their rights under peculiar circumstances, admits, in our own mind, of no doubt.

When Mr. Goode first consented to become a candidate for Congress from that district, against his interests and inclinations, he was doing a lucrative business in the practice of his profession, and had a comfortable home to shelter his family and himself. When his term of service expired his practice had been swept away, and he returned to Norfolk in an embarrassed financial condition-so much so as to compel him, as an honest man, to sell his property to pay his debts.
Under these plain circumstances, the truthfulness of which will not be denied, we say the people of the Second district, especially those of the city of Norfelk, should stand by him in adverse circumstances, as he wrought out for them the redemption of their district from the Radical hands of Peanut Platt and his aiders and abettors.

Illuminations and torchlight processions are very gratifying in the hour of victory, but true friendship needs no such headlights to show when and where adversity has thrown its pail over the hero of many hard-fought bat-

We make no reflection upon our Tidewater friends, but we say without fear of successful contradiction that those people owe to Mr. Goode an honest lebt of gratitude that no light or trifling recognition will ever begin to repay .-Danville Register.

REPORTED FATAL SHOOTING AFFAIR-

Liquor-Dealers Summoned Into Court-In teresting Suit for Slander-Municipal and Congressional Politics. &c. Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.

PETERSBUEG, VA., July 19, 1886.

A day or two ago two negro farmhands, employed on the plantation of Mr. David Prince, in Greensville county, became involved in an angry dispute during which the epithet of "d-d fool" was applied by Robert Woodley to William Henry Stokes. The latter thereupon drew from his pocket a 32-calibre pistol and shot Woodley in the to be $4,449-enough to extinguish the right groin, indicting a dangerous and probably fatal wound. Seeing what he had done, Stokes hastily gathered together his little effects and fled, endeavoring to make his escape. Justice Madin appointed a negro deputy constable and started him in pursuit of the fugitive. Stokes was overtaken and arrested by the constable, and delivered into the custody of the Justice, who committed him to jail to await the result of Woodley's wound. The prisoner alleges that the shooting was accidental, but from all that can be learned from the affair it is believed it was intentional.

The rains of last Wednesday and Thursday in the counties south of this city are said to have been heavier than heretofore reported. The farmers de-clare that unless there is early seasonathing tends to attract immigration more ble weather the crops on the low grounds will prove a failure.

The police of this city yesterday raided some twelve or fifteen establishments in different streets where it was alleged liquor was being sold in violation of the Sunday law. The proprietors were summoned to appear before the mayor to answer the charge, and their cases have been set for hearing tomorrow. As may be imagined, con siderable commotion has been caused smong the liquor-dealers in consequence. The Sunday liquor-law has ong been almost a dead statute on the books : and, while it has been openly alleged that liquor could be freely obtained on the Sabbath, it has seldom been the case that the penalty of the law has been imposed. An interesting suit for slander, in which damages are laid at $5,000, will be called for trial in the Hustings Court to-morrow. The complainant in the case is a married lady and the defendant a well-known merchant-both of them of the Hebrew faith. The case promises to be one of more than ordinary interest.

There is a rumor abroad that the white men who were recently displaced in the street department to make room for colored appointees are to be restored to their former positions, and that this movement is more one of political policy than otherwise. Whether the rumor has good foundation remains to be seen. While the displacement of the whites may have been popular among the colored allies, because it gave more of the latter employment, it created much dissatisfaction among the white Republicans.

Ex-Governor William E. Cameron has been in New York for several days on business. Apparently the Republican nomination for Congress in this district is held in abeyance to General Mahone's wishes. If the Senator desires or concents to be a candidate then the other aspirants for the nomination will gracefully bow themselves aside. Should he decline there will be a free fight for the hence among some four or five or more gentlemen who are willing if not anxious to serve the people in Congress. And it may be said that some of these said above, all will yield to Senato Mahone, if he wishes to go to the House, but may not do so if he decides to cast his influence in favor of some one else.
